Profile

Matthew Masini, Dunn Carney's Director of Finance and Systems, has served in legal administrative leadership in Portland for nearly 15 years, most recently as Executive Director of a local litigation firm for eight years. His background includes working with the Metropolitan Public Defender as chief of administrative services and operations and as a senior legal assistant.

He is experienced in strategic and organizational planning, accounting and project management, and financial analysis and modeling.

Matthew holds an MBA from Portland State University and a B.S. from Loyola University. He is an active member of the Association of Legal Administrators, Portland Chapter, and served as the organization's president from 2017-2018. He also serves on the board of the Jesuit Volunteer Corps Northwest.

At Dunn Carney, Matthew manages the Accounting/Finance, IT, and Records Departments.
