Profile

Jered Brown, RP is a paralegal with Dunn Carney's litigation team. He handles complex litigation matters often involving employment, healthcare, agriculture, catastrophic injuries and contract disputes.

Jered has worked as a paralegal for more than 14 years. His diverse experience working on plaintiff, insurance defense, workers' compensation and disability matters brings a unique perspective and advantage in helping develop efficient case strategies. He has a sharp eye for ensuring electronic discovery is identified and collected early in a case, and believes that paralegals are an invaluable component to a strong and successful legal team.

Jered enjoys exploring the Pacific Northwest and can be found escaping to the San Juan Islands in Washington State several times a year. On long summer evenings, he enjoys kayaking after work and on the weekends.
