Profile

Michelle Lively has worked in the Portland legal industry for more than 20 years, developing diverse experience that allows her to work effectively across many different practice areas.

Since joining Dunn Carney in 2001, she has worked with attorneys on a wide range of cases involving everything from products liability, tort, employment, personal injury, insurance defense, business litigation, land condemnation and complex construction cases. Michelle's experience gives her an ability to provide case analysis and case strategies for all types of cases.

Prior to becoming a paralegal in Oregon, Michelle was a real estate broker in Kona, Hawaii. Her expertise in the real estate profession included sales and management of both residential and commercial properties.

During her time away from the office, Michelle enjoys spending time on or near the water, traveling and spending time with her family and friends.
